

Laboratory Corporation of America(R) Announces Definitive Agreement To Acquire DIANON Systems, Inc

November 11, 2002

BURLINGTON, N.C., and Stratford, Conn., Nov. 11 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Laboratory Corporation of America(R) Holdings (LabCorp(R)) (NYSE: LH) and DIANON Systems, Inc. (Nasdaq: DIAN), a leading provider of cancer and genomic diagnostic services, today announced that they have entered into a definitive agreement under which LabCorp will acquire all of the outstanding shares of DIANON for $47.50 per share in cash. The transaction, which is subject to DIANON shareholder and regulatory approval, is expected to close in the first quarter of 2003.

The acquisition is anticipated to be accretive to LabCorp's 2003 diluted earnings per share by approximately $0.05. LabCorp expects to realize an estimated $35 million in annual cost savings synergies by year-end 2005.

Under the terms of the agreement, which was unanimously approved by the boards of both companies, LabCorp will acquire DIANON through a merger of a newly-formed wholly-owned subsidiary of LabCorp with DIANON. In the merger, holders of DIANON common stock will receive $47.50 per share, or approximately $598 million. DIANON currently has approximately 12.6 million fully diluted shares outstanding. The transaction will be funded by a combination of cash on hand, borrowings under LabCorp's existing credit facility and a new bridge loan facility.

DIANON is a leading provider of anatomic pathology and oncology testing services in the U.S., with a focus on the outpatient market. Approximately 1,100 employees process more than 8,000 samples per day in one main testing facility and four regional labs. DIANON had 2001 revenues of approximately $126 million, and revenues of approximately $141 million for the nine-month period ended September 30, 2002.

"We are truly excited to have reached an agreement with this premier oncology testing laboratory," said Thomas P. Mac Mahon, LabCorp's chairman and chief executive officer. "The proposed acquisition of DIANON is a key part of LabCorp's strategy to be a leading cancer diagnostic laboratory in North America offering the most innovative technologies available. This strategy is clearly supported by DIANON's talented managers and employees, who have substantial testing expertise, sales capabilities and skill in the development of novel reporting formats."

"More and better cancer diagnostics will continue to have a profound impact on patient care in the coming years," continued Mr. Mac Mahon. "Combining LabCorp and DIANON will improve access to today's valuable cancer testing methods. The combination will also create a company well positioned to offer innovative new genomic tests for cancer through its partnerships with technology leaders such as Myriad Genetics, Inc., EXACT Sciences Corporation, Celera Diagnostics and Correlomics Systems, Inc."

"We are pleased to announce a transaction with a company that has been a pioneer in bringing leading-edge technologies to the market," said Kevin C. Johnson, DIANON's chairman, president and chief executive officer. "LabCorp's focus on cancer diagnostics and its vast capabilities in specialized testing will help ensure that our customers continue to receive the very best in testing services. Opportunities for employees will be available as part of a stronger, more competitive company."
